New Council- New Studs

By LYNN FARRAR

In November the Juniors were talking about a spirit that urged them to take over the school, shed their uniforms, and even burn it down. Now three Juniors are about to assume the leadership of the Harpeth Hall student council, but they won the jobs democratically and plan to build the school up, not burn it down. It is, however, no coincidence that these three were among the leaders in that Junior quest for spirit.

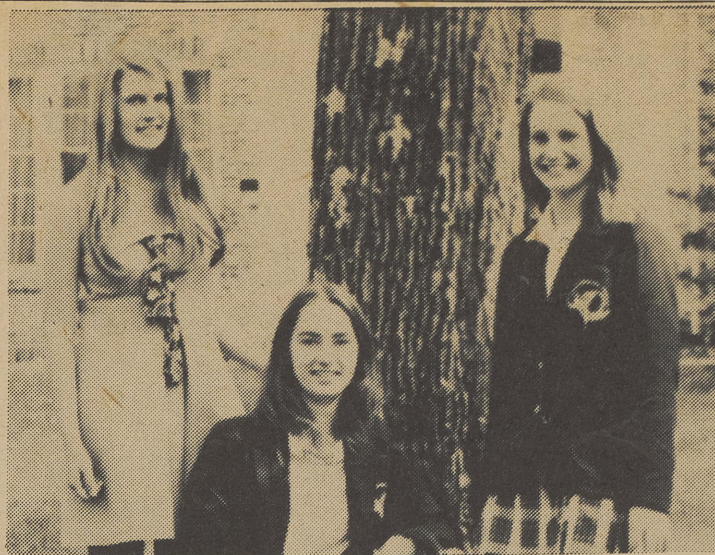

The president-elect of the council, like her other officers, is loaded with school spirit. Lee Ann Thornton moved to Nashville from Memphis and began her sophomore year at Harpeth Hall. She was one of the sophomore school cheerleaders, and at the end of that year she was named May Personality of the Month and elected to be vice-president of her Junior class. It took a good-humored person with creative talents and loads of faith to help the Juniors swing the play, and her class readily recognized her contribution. The freshmen appreciated Lee Ann's friendliness and encouraging words and thus selected her as George Washington in their birthday ball.

Beth Davis was elected to handle that job requiring tact and diplomacy - the vice-president of the student council. This job entails the chairmanship of the student-faculty committee. Beth has always been an active enthusiast in school, club, and class affairs. She handles Eccowasin athletics as their athletic manager this year. She is also a junior and school cheerleader and was Lee Ann's counterpart as Martha Washington. As a summer A. F. S. student, Beth will gain much knowledge of the joy and chores of diplomacy that she will handle next year.

It will be Susie Berry who will take over Josephine Kelley's duties as secretary-treasurer of the council. Susie will be familiar with the job since she worked with the council as Junior representative this year; she served as chairman of the Public Relations committee. In addition to being a student council representative, Susie has served as vice-president of the Spanish Club her Sophomore and Junior years and has been a top winner in both the French and Spanish contests.

At the end of the All-Club Picnic, the '72 - '73 Student Council officers will swear Lee Ann, Beth, and Susie in and hand over their books to them. They then will have the formidable challenge of leading the '73-'74 council.

Art Club Hangs Up Talent

By LEE ANN THORNTON

It was as if the Art Club controlled even the weather Friday, May 4th, as the sun shone through to the library lawn where the second annual Clothesline Art Show and Sale was held. With the music of Cat Stevens in the air, strangers and many visiting family members strolled along the sidewalk and around the chain of clothes-pinned art which encircled the trees. Donated by the Upper School art classes, the show consisted mainly of watercolors and prints, but many different techniques were exhibited. Adding to the variety were a few batiks, large canvases of oils, some sculpture, and a large display of ceramics ranging from small finger pots to large urns.

The hit of the show was the collection of small paintings which when united and hung formed two amazing likenesses of Miss McMurry and Miss Penny.

For those who remembered to bring their money it was a great opportunity to buy original art work with prices ranging from twenty-five cents for a small black print to fifteen dollars for an oil painting. The sale did not officially begin until 12:00, but this did not stop many early prospective buyers from holding on to a painting for safekeeping.

A total of approximately three hundred fifty dollars was collected by the Art Club. The artist received all profits minus a twenty percent donation (about seventy dollars) which was donated to Harpeth Hall's art department. Besides the enjoyment of making a few extra dollars, the chance to "show off" one's work and watch others take delight in it was enough to thrill any artist.

Cum Laude Installation Held

On Monday April 30th the installation of the Harpeth Hall Chapter of the Cum Laude Society and the initiation of the present members was held in the auditorium. Herbert B. Moore, regent of District IV of the Society and Headmaster of Holland Hall in Tulsa, Oklahoma, installed the chapter, and John H. Cooper, headmaster of the Kinkaid School in Houston, Texas and president of the Cum Laude chapter there, gave the address. The members at the present are: Charter Members - Mrs. Melissa Bradford, Miss Fessey, Mrs. Gregory, Miss Mims, Miss Penny, Mrs. Ottarson, Mrs. Overholser, Dr. Smith, and Miss Watkins; Faculty Members - Miss McMurry (president), Mrs. Ottarson (secretary), Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Gregory, Miss Mims, Miss Penny, Mrs. Overholser, Mrs. Waterfield, and Miss Watkins; Members-in-Course - JeNan Austin, Susie Berry, Lynn Farrar, Susan Gibson, Mary Alice Harbison, Coleman Miller, Sally Tanner, and Cathy Van Eys.

Sing Along With Wolery

By CONNIE S. KING

Sewanee and Chattanooga were the destinations of the Harpeth Hall Glee Club on May 26-27. Mrs. Robert Wolery, director, and Mrs. Robert Rogers, accompanist, chaperoned the overnight trip.

Leaving immediately after school on Thursday, the girls arrived at Sewanee Academy in time to join the boys for dinner. Afterwards, they presented a musical program of contemporary tunes, such as "The Night They Drove Old Dixie Down" and nostalgic ones like "Mame."

Barbara Couch, Susan Gibson, and Barbara Massie provided additional enjoyment by singing a tender love ballad.

After talking with the students, the H. H. girls headed toward Chattanooga where they spent the night at the Read House. Not many slept, for the night was highlighted by several incidents including the waitress in the coffee shop not waiting on her customers, a fire a block away, someone turning the hot water on in the shower and getting trapped in the shower, and one girl tumbling on the floor as she attempted to leap out of bed!

The next morning, the Glee Club sang at GPS where the basketball, tennis, and volleyball players greeted their rivals. After stopping there, the girls went to Baylor. "Mack the Knife," "Dixie," and a medley from "Jesus Christ Superstar," with a solo by Judy Andrews, were well-received by the audience. (At both GPS and Baylor, the singers were given standing ovations.) Lunch at Baylor was fun, and the girls enjoyed talking with the students. The Baylor Glee Club was able to schedule a performance at Harpeth Hall May 21.

After singing at McCallie, the girls came home. They arrived late Friday afternoon, tired but happy.

The Glee Club recently put on its annual spring program "Spread Joy" jointly with MBA at Harpeth Hall.

'Au Revoir, 'Mrs. Eilender

By CATHY CATE

Speaking French as her native tongue, communicating with her American husband-to-be, mastering fluent English as she and her husband moved to America, and finally teaching her own language to American students -- from these activities Mrs. Danielle Eilender has become one of Harpeth Hall's most experienced language teachers.

Mrs. Eilender, a native of Chateauroux, France, met her husband, who was stationed at a U. S. Air Force base near her hometown, at a party. This first attempt at communication with a foreigner was frustrating to begin with, but it gave Mrs. Eilender an ability to listen attentively.

Mrs. Eilender is enthusiastic about the Harpeth Hall program. She believes it is so "meaningful for teaching and serves a practical purpose," especially the Winterim. She is currently a quite active Ariston sponsor, but her support goes beyond this point as she is often found at various after-school activities.

Mrs. Eilender's future is filled with a desire to travel throughout

Mrs. Eilender found returning to France, and definite plans to move to New Orleans at the close of school this year. Because her husband is a geologist for Texaco and intends to do lab research in oil in New Orleans, Mrs. Eilender will be continuing graduate work at Tulane and teaching at Archbishop Chapelle School.

Although she is a bit apprehensive about moving to such a large city where she has no friends yet, Mrs. Eilender wants to reside there at least 5 years and begin a family. Also in future plans are the consideration of becoming a U. S. citizen, remaining in America, and returning to Nashville this summer to welcome the students from France who received our winterim group.

Being a foreigner, she was subjected to quite a few shocks in America. Having only heard of America's mass housing developments, she was shocked by seeing her first suburb with the many frame houses. Accustomed to walking everywhere, she was amazed that one had to drive to get anywhere.

Volleyball Team Competes Nationally

Harpeth Hall's varsity volleyball team has fully completed their 1973 season. Frances Berry, Susan Berry, Cathy Dale, Vanessa Draper, Karen Duvier, Jane Foreman, Coleman Miller, Kay Procter, Douglass Smith, Susan Thornton, Karen Tribble, Mimi Wallace, Laura Whitson, and manager Stephanie Justice make up the team.

Their season consisted of two matches which were played against Hutchison and G.P.S. and two tournaments. The team rallied to a convincing win over Hutchison and lost both games of their G.P.S. match by two points. They hosted their own invitational tournament on May 4th and 5th. The final round found G.P.S. matched against H.H. for the championship with G.P.S. coming out victorious.

Those schools other than Harpeth Hall participating in the tournament were Cohn High School, G.P.S. from Chattanooga, Hutchison and Saint Mary's from Memphis, and Cleveland Day School. The tournament was overall a success and Harpeth Hall did a fine job of hosting it.

On May 18th and 19th the National Volleyball Tournament was held at Maryville College. This contest was the final showing of this year's hard working varsity squad.

According to Miss Webster, this year's team showed more potential than any she has ever coached. We extend a note of appreciation to those who worked endlessly from four until six o'clock five days weekly and spent their weekends representing Harpeth Hall in volleyball competition.

JCL Goes To Knoxville

By JEANNETTE CHARLET

Harpeth Hall's own Junior Classical League ventured to Knoxville's Bearden High School and picked up two firsts, seven seconds, five thirds, and a fifth prize in competition in Latin categories.

The school's biggest victory came in the costume category with Gay McCarter's Roman citizen (1st); Shelley Long as Zenobia (2nd); Jeannette Charlet as a Roman bride (2nd); Mary Stamps, Lee Ann Wills, Ellen Hobbs and Bridgette Salyer as the Four Seasons (2nd); and Dana Riegle as the goddess Iris (3rd).

With the convention's theme of "Unity in Diversity," Ellen Hobbs won a first in oratory.

In academic competition, Tertia Flygt won a first, while Joyce Johnson and Sally Barge both won third in Rapid Comprehension and Mary Stamps copped fifth prize. Joyce Johnson picked up a second and Bridgette Salyer won a third in derivatives. With a composite of five tests, Joyce Johnson also won a third in the pentathlon.

Ellen Hobb's hard fought campaign for TJCL president was managed by Betty Andrews.

Thanks For The Memories

Thirteen teachers will be leaving Harpeth Hall to take on new activities and occupations.

Joy Minton hopes to work as a computer programmer. She plans to continue reading everything in print and decorating her home.

Vicki Bartholomew is "retiring" to help her politically active husband, who served as Senator Baker's campaign manager last year and will be entering law practice with the firm of Griffith and Stokes. Mrs. Bartholomew is looking forward to homelife and painting.

Linda Hall will move to Hopkinsville, Kentucky, where her husband will set up a quality control laboratory for the Mallory Metallurgical Company. She may teach in a nearby area.

Marilee Patnode will be at the Ellis School teaching sixth, seventh, and ninth grade science in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Her husband Roger will be interning in pediatrics at the Children's Hospital.

Danielle Eilender will join her husband who became a geologist for Texaco in New Orleans in March. She will teach French at Archbishop Chapelle School there and do graduate work at Tulane University.

Diane Wild will accompany her husband "Skipper", who joins the Judge Advocate General Corps of the U.S. Navy. They will be in Newport, Rhode Island, for six months beginning in January.

Nan Henig is moving to Atlanta to become a computer programmer at Life of Georgia Insurance Company. She is looking forward to big city life.

Linda Poag hopes to teach in Knoxville where her husband is an intern at the University of Tennessee.

Susie Brown is leaving to have a baby but she plans to supplement her home activities with tutoring, substituting, and possibly returning at the Winter.

"Freddie" Vallord Saussy also will be spending more time with her three year old daughter Alexia, who will move here from Puerto Rico and will need to learn English. The Saussys have much traveling on their agenda.

The Council is very enthusiastic about its gift to the school. It is giving a brick quadrangle to be constructed in the area between the Junior Room, Senior House, and Cubbyhole Room. Since this space now consists mostly of mud rather than grass, the present should aid in beautifying the campus. When the quadrangle is completed, walking from one building to another will be easier, for students will no longer have to use the awkwardly placed sidewalks.

The Student Council of 1972-1973 takes pride in its accomplishments, and it fully realizes that they were made possible through the cooperation and participation of the students.

Junior-Senior Day Was Fun

By MORGAN ENTREKIN

Here I am sitting in a class with a ballerina, two roller skate queens, Raggedy Anne, a fairy godmother, the Bobsey Twins, a bride, a miniature boy scout, and a cowboy. My teacher is impersonating a six-year-old girl and I'm the only boy in the class. We're talking about the dyadic therapeutic group process and Minnie Mouse just skated in with a note for girl in front of me. I think I'm going crazy.

Crazy, no. It's just Junior-Senior Day at Harpeth Hall.

By PALMER ALEXANDER

Junior - Senior Day, May 3, 1973, was the climax of athletic competition between the upper classes. The day's sports consisted of archery, tennis, track and field events, badminton, table tennis, and softball. Hockey, football, bowling, and volleyball, having been completed earlier this year, were also totaled in to give the Seniors a 9 to 1 victory.
